

library

news

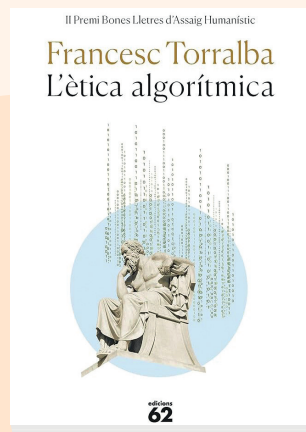

Acompañando el crecimiento personal

Orón, J.V. and Cenoz, M.

Acompañando el Crecimiento, 2023

This book presents a proposal for personal and shared growth. Starting from lived experience with all its emotional load, it encourages readers to follow a path of knowing the complexity of themselves and others that leads to finding all the good that is hidden. The book presents the foundations that support education centred on the individual and their growth by approaching their complexity from different vantage points. It also discusses some of the keys to personal support to encourage trust, healthy relationships and sustained growth.

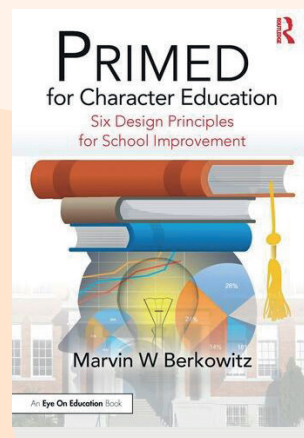

L'ètica algorítmica

Francesc Torralba

Edicions 62, 2022

Today's technological world is radically changing the way we live, interact with each other, think, create, love and work, as well as raising big questions about our own identity and society. The author, who has exemplary mastery of the subject and the philosophical references, proposes an ethical approach to this world marked by social media, virtuality, robotics and mechanisation, and the power of data and information.

PRIMED for the Character Education

Marvin W. Berkowitz

Routledge, 2021

This book distils decades of research on evidence-based practices and field experience into a clear list of principles that school leaders and teachers can implement to help students to grow as people. It offers comprehensive guidance based on six principles for shaping learning environments; fostering healthy relationships, core values and virtues; recommending role models; and the empowerment and long-term development of any school.

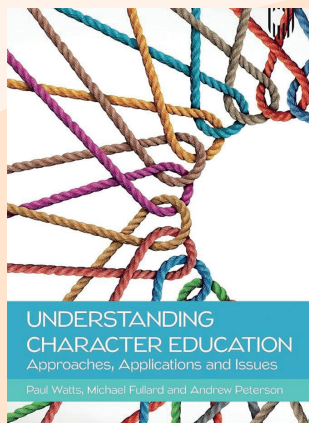

Una educación liberal

José María Torralba

Encuentro, 2022

This book presents the history of liberal education and its theoretical principles, as well as the practical problems that often impede or hinder students' formation in the humanities. The result is a book that not only educates and inspires but also challenges and provides the tools needed to meet the future challenge of university education in an increasingly technocratic world of profound and accelerating change, where the very meaning of what it means to be human is at stake.

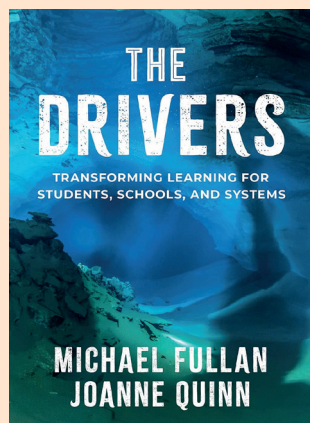

Understanding Character Education

Watts, P., Fullan, M. and Peterson, A.

Open University Press, 2021

This book presents the key ideas, practices and concepts that are shaping character education in schools today. It explores the principles that underpin character education and the pedagogical practices that ensure that it comes to life in schools. It is essential reading for everyone involved in the teaching and learning of young people, as well as for those studying this vital subject in education studies, teacher training and postgraduate courses.

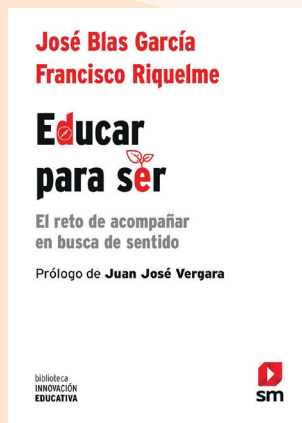

The Drivers

Fullan, M. and Quinn, J.

Corwin, 2023

In this book, the authors set out a comprehensive model for transforming teaching and learning. The goal is to ensure that students are truly prepared to live and thrive in the complex world around them. Among other things, the authors discuss how to guide students, staff and the community around the four drivers: well-being and learning, social and machine intelligence, equity-quality investments and systemness.

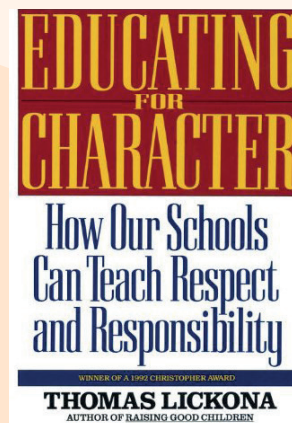

Educar para ser

García, JB. and Riquelme, F.

Biblioteca Innovación Educativa, 2020

This book contains reflections by practising teachers who think and feel that education is a transformative action at the social, community and personal levels. According to the authors, the teacher's role is to create the right framework for students to find the optimal learning conditions. The challenge of education begins with transforming the educator with the aim of knowing how to support the development of meaning, of human beings' profound purpose, for a full life, shared based on the individual's identity, values and talents.

Educating for Character

Thomas Lickona

Bantam Books, 2009

The author, an international expert in character education, calls for a revamping of school education and offers dozens of programmes that schools can adopt to teach students respect, responsibility, quality work and other values that they should embrace, in collaboration with families.